

Mission

The Franco Family Institute for Liberal Arts and the Public Good advances and promotes research and creative endeavors in the College of Arts & Letters. From getting projects off the ground to sharing their impact with the world, the Franco Institute ensures faculty and students at all levels of experience get the research support they need and the scholarly recognition they deserve.

Vision

The Franco Institute aspires to be an unparalleled resource that empowers students and faculty to uncover the truths, ideas, and values that shape our world. We continuously strive to create, enhance, and refresh programs and partnerships that enable transformative discovery and inspired creative work that positively impact our local, national, and global communities.

Goals

- Provide relevant, efficient, and impactful internal programs that financially support research projects and creative work.
- Elevate the external funding profile, reputation, and visibility of research conducted in the College of Arts & Letters.
- Enhance the vibrant intellectual community within and across departments, centers, and institutes.
- Advance the liberal arts and the public good.
